UNDERGRAD ASS'N BEING REORGANIZED TO FIT CONDITIONS

President Howe Appeals for Suggestions from Students.

The necessity of a reorganization of the present Undergraduate Association was explained by President D. F. Howe at a meeting of the body held last evening in McCullough Gymnasium.

Mr. Howe has appointed a committee consisting of Chauncey Niles '29, Elbert Henry '30 and Roy E. Hardy '31 which will work in conjunction with himself and the Waubanakees to formulate a new constitution which will be better adapted to the present needs of the college.

The committee will welcome any suggestions from undergraduates. These should be given in writing to Mr. Howe and he asked that suggestions provide for a president, student council and some form of association of all undergraduates of the men's college.

As a preliminary move in clearing up some of the difficulties in the present organization it was voted to eliminate undergraduate dues and to ask the college to add $1.00 per year to the semester bills of the men. This action will make it possible for everyone to vote whereas in the past only those who have paid their dues have been eligible. The dues, as in the past, will be used in the financing of sweaters for the major athletic teams.

Mr. Howe has written to colleges in various sections of the country and obtained copies of their constitutions. These togehter with suggestions from the students should enable the committee to formulate a plan which will more adequately serve the needs of the undergraduates.

The Association also voted to sponsor the Freshman handbook for the ensuing year.

Another meeting of the Association will be held next Tuesday evening at which time the reorganization will be more fully discussed.

CHINESE PLAY TO BE GIVEN MARCH 26, 28

Dramatic Club to Present Plays Two Evenings Next Week.

Two plays, "The Thrice Promised Bride", and "The Wedding Anniversary", will be given in the Playhouse by the Dramatic Club the evenings of March 26 and 28.

"The Thrice Promised Bride" is a Chinese play by Cheng Chin Hsiung, and should be intensely interesting to the Playhouse audience, being the first of its kind to be presented there. It is truly Chinese in character and conforms to Chinese rules and traditions of playwriting.

This comedy is one of the Carolina Folk Plays and is given by permission of the Carolina Playmakers Inc., Frederick H. Koch, Director, University of North Carolina. The author, a Chinese student in one of the Playmakers' classes, has combined the Chinese tradition with the American form of dialogue. Special care is being taken in the making of the costumes which will be strikingly colorful and characteristic.

A new experiment is being tried in these plays, namely that of having a different cast present the play each evening of its performance. The cast will include the following:

"THE THRICE PROMISED BRIDE"

COUNT VON LUCKNER LECTURES TONIGHT

Man the life-boats! Sail ahoy! The first honest-to-gosh pirate of the last hundred years is headed for Middlebury—full steam ahead!

This bold buccaneer is the famous Count Felix Von Luckner, the fabled German "Sea-Devil" of the late war, who sank 500,000 tons of ships, took hundreds of prisoners without killing a man, and fed his prisoners champagne and cake.

What a career this modern swashbuckler has crowded into the last fifteen years! But don't fool yourself, he is still a young man.

His story is one of the real romances of the war! The running of the triple-blockade of the Allies; the two years of buccaneering in his famous old wind-jammer "The Seeadler"; his capture and imprisonment in Australia; and his escape and 2,000 mile journey in a life-boat with six companions.

It's all history now, authenticated—and rather pleasant history, if you please—for back of it all was a fine humanitarian idea that this "friendly enemy" lived up to at all times in fighting his own kind of a war.

JUNIOR JAMBOREE SATURDAY MORNING

"Bo" Willis '29 Wins Prize in Stunt Guessing Contest.

Albert E. Willis '29 has been awarded the prize offered by the Junior Week Committee for correctly guessing the event to take place Saturday morning of Junior Week. It will be called the Junior Jamboree.

The committee has planned to have a unique affair for Junior Week activities. There will be a "different" treasure hunt and outing directly following the Frosh-Soph Rope Pull at the new picnic grounds on Chipman Hill dedicated last year by Governor Weeks. This will be the first college function on these premises since its formal opening. The grounds are very well equipped, thus assuring the very best accomodations.

This affair will give Promsters a chance to get out and stretch and get into some comfortable clothes after the formality of the evening before. A luncheon will be served at noon to relieve the merrymakers of the necessity of hiking back to the college. The affair will be over in time for the participants to get back for the Norwich baseball game in the afternoon.

There will be more "doings" than in the "game shoot" of '98, during which event everyone went into the woods equipped with guns, shooting everything that moved, the person bringing in the most spoils winning the hunt. There will be no guns in this year's affair, but there will be a hunt.

Further details of the "surprise" will be published in next week's issue.

Chromec and Witherell to Edit 1929 Handbook

Frank A. Chromec '30 and Sanford Witherell '30 were chosen to head the editors of the 1929-30 Middlebury Hand book. Since the Y. M. C. A. is an inactive organization the Undergraduate Association has undertaken to sponsor the editing of the book this year.

Middlebury Alumna Injured In Chemistry Experiment

Elizabeth Adams '27, who is an assistant professor of chemistry at Smith College, was critically injured when an experiment on which she was working in the laboratory exploded. It was feared that she might lose her eyesight and that the poison in the chemicals which entered her body would kill the blood cells, but the specialists in attendance say there is some hope for her life due to her previous excellent health.

COACH ROY B. CLOGSTON

GLEE CLUB CLOSES SUCCESSFUL SEASON

Final Concert Tour Takes Men to Philadelphia and New York.

The Men's Glee Club returned Sunday from its final and most extended tour of the season. Five concerts and two radio broadcasts were included in the fiev days of singing. The club left Middlebury Tuesday, March 12.

The High School Senior class sponsored the concert given Tuesday evening at Springfield, Vt. The club sang for a large audience in the auditorium of the Town Hall. Under the auspices of the Fathe's Club the songsters presented their program in the Warren Harding High School at Bridgeport, Conn. Wednesday evening.

Thursday evening the club appeared in the Chapel of Beaver College, Philadephia, Pa. where the concert was a feature of the entertainment course. and was sponsored by the 1929 "Beechbark" staff. The men were the guests of the colege at dinner that evening, and dancing was enjoyed at the conclusion of the program.

The club sang in the Junior High School at Montclair, N.J., Thursday evening. The apperance was under the auspices of the St. John's Men's Club of the city. A dance was held after the concert in the gymnasium of the building. The final concert was given in Jarvie Memorial Hall, Bloomfield, N. J., where the club appeared under the auspices of the Senior Christian Endeavor Society of Westminster Church.

Members of the club were entertained by the patronesses of the concerts in the several cities, and while in Philadelphia made their headquarters at the Hotel Lorraine. In addition to the regular concert work, the club broadcasted from WOR, Newark, on Friday afternoon, and from WEAF, New York, on Saturday afternoon. Reports from these broadcasts show that the club was heard throughout a large section of the east.

CAST OF THE PATSY TO GO TO RUTLAND

The cast of "The Patsy" a modern farce which was given so successfully in November as the Sophomore Play, is travelling to Rutland Friday evening to give another presentation of the play in the new High School Auditorium.

The Play, which will be the first to be given in the new auditorium, is to be under the auspices of the Girl Scouts of Rutland; after the play the members of the cast will be entertained by friends and relatives of the girls, and by other people of the city.

The cast which will play in Rutland includes: the Misses Mary Stolte, Lillian Becker, Mary Hough, and Prudence Ingham, all of the class of '31; and Richard Amerman '31, Philander Bates '31, Raymond Bosworth '29, and Laurence Wilson '30.

MIDDLEBURY TO LOSE COACH ROY CLOGSTON AT CLOSE OF SEASON

Popular Sports Mentor to be Director of Athletics at St. Lawrence.

Roy B. Clogston, who has had such a successful year as a member of the Middlebury staff of coaches, will go to St. Lawrence University next fall, where he will be Director of Athletics. Mr. Clogston will succeed W. P. Knauss, who has resigned from the New York school.

After being graduated from Springfield College in June 1928, Mr. Clogston came to Middebury to tackle his first post-college job. He was successful from the very start and has endeared himself to students and faculty members with whom he has come in contact.

Mr. Clogston served as line coach for the football team last fall and although faced with the task of building a bulwark out of green material, he turned out a capable crew. The stand of the Panther forwards on the one foot line in the Vermont game will stand as a lasting memorial to Coach Clogston's work. His thorough training of the men in the fundamentals of line play will be valuable in building up next year's team as many of the members of his line will again be available.

After the football togs had been put away, Coach Clogston turned to the task of building up a hockey team from the ruins of last year's championship sextet. With only two regulars left from last season, things did not look very bright, but untiring toil and the ability to get his men to work their heads off for him enabled the Coach to bring the Blue and White through another State Hockey Championship.

Co-operation has been the secret of Coach Clogston's success. At all times, he was perfectly willing to do anything to help. This spirit was brought out in his wrestling class, which he took on outside of his regular duties just to help and please the students.

Middlebury will miss Coach Clogston's leadership, as he is the type of coach who can get his teams to work at their best at all times. His spirit of friendship draws men to him like a magnet and enables him to get the most out of his teams.

It is extremely probable that Mr. Clogston's teams will meet teams from Pantherland in the realm of sport in the future due to the friendly rivalry existing between St. Lawrence and Middlebury.

MASSIE '31 CHOSEN EDITOR OF SAXONIAN

Elizabeth Massie '31 has been elected editor-in-chief of the Saxonian. owing to the resignation of Harold Berman '31, the former editor. Miss Massie has been contributing editor during the current academic year, and won a third prize in the annual Saxonian short-story contest. Helen Walcott '30 and Wallace Greene '30 have both been elected to the staff as contributing editors. Some of their work appeared in the December issue of the magazine.

Vol. XXV. March 20, 1929 No. 22

The college deeply sympathizes with John S. Sheehan in the loss of his mother.

THE FIRST OF ARIES.

Dust has settled quite securely on skis, skates, snowshoes.

Golf clubs, tennis rackets, baseball bats and track paraphernalia are taken from trunks, closets, lockers and from precarious positions on the walls of the room.

Sheepskins and fur coats give way to more brightly colored jackets.

Even upperclassmen refrain from cutting campus—either out of respect for themselves or the campus.

Cinder walks are somewhat unsteady; dirt ones are impassable.

A thunderstorm wakes you up; a blizzard rages 12 hours later.

The number of students who take their stand at the entrance of chapel waiting more or less patiently for the one to come, grows larger each day. Mr. Murray sells more tickets two at a time.

You get up for breakfast, perhaps even study a little beforehand.

You realize your roommate is a pretty good fellow after all though of course—but that's all over now. Even your professors are more reasonable and subject to persuasion than usual.

Books are looked upon goodnaturedly as necessary evils. Of course you don't feel like studying but it's only a little over a week before vacation begins and so at least you do the best in the little time you have.

Elections for next fall are being held.

Seniors are wondering what they are going to do.

Conversation drifts here and there—no one cares much where.

Little boys and marbles interfere with even the most leisurely progress.

Why? For three months the sun has been getting a little further north and tomorrow it crosses the equator.

It's Spring.

Middlebury received some good publicity last week through the Glee Club in spite of the announcers. Perhaps the rising generation of announcers will not be so unfamiliar with the college or with the names of the songs sung by its Glee Club.

For two successive years Starr Hall has escaped the snowball barrage which used to be directed toward those rooms whose tenants left without shutting the windows and even some of the rooms whose windows were firmly closed. Congratulations 1932.

Rev. Hewitt is adept at many things—driving a car, writing poems and best of all, a good chapel speaker.

The scarlet fever germ has not been entirely eradicated but exercise and fresh air will help more than trying to dodge a possible carrier.

The new rushing rules will make it difficult for next year's rushing chairmen, none of them actually having seen a similar system in practice. However the class of '32 will not object to the release from labor afforded by the plan.

VIEWPOINTS

The Death of a Column.

The Oregon Daily Emerald, one of our far western contemporaries, has caused no small stir in college journalistic circles by its managing board's recent decision to abolish editorials. The purpose of this surprising move, according to the last editorial to appear in its columns, was to make the paper more truly representative of student opinion by throwing open the whole of the editorial page to communications from undergraduates on any subject whatsoever.

Aside from the well-known historical fact that the Boston Transcript, a metropolitan daily, gave this radical scheme a fair trial and discontinued it as eminently unsatisfactory, the guiding principle of the Emerald's change is fundamentally unsound. People who write letters to a newspaper, as the contents of many of last term's correspondence columns rather forcefully show, are often only airing personal grievances and representing themselves alone.

For contrary to popular belief, most student editorial boards, besides feeling some necessity of inquiring into the facts and causes of the matters about which they write express not a single man's opinion, but the concensus of those of half a dozen men.—Cornell Daily Sun.

BUSINESS HEADS TO HAVE CONFERENCE

The Department of Education and Vocation of the University Club of Boston plans to conduct a conference April 25 and 26, in which business executives and college personnel officers will take part, and the department has decided to invite one outstanding Junior from each of the men's colleges of New England. The general theme of the program in "Opportunities and Requirements for Success in Various Fields, such as sales, finance, production, merchandising, etc."

Men of the Junior class at Middlebury who would like to be considered for the privilege of representing the College at this conference should make application to Mr. Wiley on or before March 22.

The conference of April 25 and 26 should not be confused with the Recruiting Conference to which Seniors are invited, and which will be held on April 1 and 2.

Oklahoma City, Olka.—(IP)—Like her father, Margy Jo Russell believes there is a fallacy in the admonition, "You can't do that".

Consequently, Mary Jo, a student at Oklahoma City university, sped eastward with a delegation of journalism students to witness Herbert Hoover's inauguration. She had been denied permission to accompany the group because she is a freshman. Her presence was discovered somewhere in Kansas. She had stowed away.

Margy Jo's father, Campbell Russell, several years ago challenged the authority of the Fred Harvey Co. to force him to wear a coat in a railroad dining room. Russel lost the case in the state supreme court.

General Announcement of the Cornell Department of Chemistry Concerning the Discovery of Woman, a New Element.

Symbol: Wo.

A member of the human family.

Occurrence: Can be found wherever man exists. Quality depends upon the state in which it is found. Usually the united state is preferred.

Physical properties: All colors and sizes. Always appears in disguised condition; surface seldom unprotected by a coat of paint or film of powder. Boils at nothing and may freeze at any moment. However, it melts when propperly treated. Very bitter if not used properly.

Chemical Properties: Very active. Possesses a great affinity for gold, platinum, and precious stones of all kinds. Has great ability to absorb all kinds of expensive foods at any time. Undissolved by liquids, but activity is greatly increased when saturated with spirit solutions. Turns green when placed near a better looking specimen. Fresh variety has greater attraction. Highly dangerous and explosive when in inexperienced hands.—Cornell Daily Sun.

WAMBA SAYS

It makes him happy to think that last week this column was open to contributions from its readers and none were received. He is glad that no one takes anything herein entered seriously, and never lose their sense of humor. (if any).

Hate to talk about the weather, but believe it or not, tomorrow is the first day of spring.

Which brings into mind that soon the paths on Chipman Hill will be dry enough to walk on.

Dr. Hewitt said, "There is a man at Smith College and he has high ideals." He must have to be there.

There was no one shot over St. Patrick's day. Maybe it was because of Al Smith's defeat in the presidential elections of last fall.

Do you want to learn some new swear words? The Chinese names in "The Thrice Promised Bride" to be presented next week are dandies. At least, no one will know what you are saying.

Only eight more walks up Chapel Hill before "going home" time.

Those weren't boys walking in their sleep that you saw the other day, they were only the track squad getting a workout.

The Junior Week Committee planned a party on Chipman Hill probably because everyone will go up there anyway at some time or another during the Junior Week, for you know how the saying goes, "They who walk up Chipman Hill together, be they of opposite sex, will eventually be knotted."

All the men and their "heart throbs" might as well go up at one time and make merry together.

Carnegie Corp. Grants Library Scholarships

The Carnegie Corporation of New York has set aside a fund for scholarship grants to persons preparing for library work. The amount available for the next school year is sufficient to provide for a limited number of appointments.

The purpose of the grants is to enable persons who already have had experience in library work, and who have shown promise of capacity to contribute to the advancement of the library profession, to pursue a year of study and research in library problems. Their work will be done not necessarily in residence, but invariably in connection with an educational institution recognized as appropriate for supervising the study, and the results will be expected to constitute a definite contribution to library science or to the professional equipment of the librarian.

The stipend will be $1,500 or more and will vary according to the requirements of individual students. When warranted the stipend may be renewed for a second eyar.

Application for scholarship grants for the school year 1929-30 should be filed before April 1, 1929 in a letter to the Advisory Group on Library Scholarship Grants, Carnegie Corporation, 522 Fifth Avenue, New York. The Advisory Group and the Carnegie Corporation will act on the applications before May 1 and applicants will be notified as soon as possible thereafter.

EDITORS GIVE OUT INFORMATION ABOUT 1930 KALEIDOSCOPE

View Section; Color and Art Scheme to be Unique.

According to announcements by F. A. Chromec, editor of the 1930 Kaleidoscope, the book is expected to be ready for distribution May 1.

Most of the composing is now completed and the make up dummy will be sent to the printers this week.

Among the interesting features of this year's annual will be the general color and art scheme. The view section will not be the ordinary black and white print as in previous years, but will be of some more attractive colored inks. The views will be different; the photography is unique. An airplane view of the college will give a modern touch to the section.

All through the book photography will be more in evidence. Much interesting cartooning will be used in the subdivisional and divisional pages. These alone would make the book distinctive.

The cover for the the book has been contracted for and has incorporated ideas to bring out the general color and art scheme of the book. The Chateau will be used in full relief against a suitable background. This type of cover is being used for the first time in the East.

The editors refuse to give out specific information reganding the book in order that it may be presented to the college as a delightful surprise.

FRENCH FACULTY PRESENT "KNOCK"

Entire French Faculty and Three Students in Cast.

The presentation of the farce "Knock" by the French Department attracted an audience of about sixty people to the salon of the Chateau Friday evening, March 15. The members of the French faculty, assisted by three members of the Cercle Francais, composed the cast of the farce.

"Knock" satirizes the physician of poor quality. Doctor Parpalaid, a country doctor, sells his practice in the town of Saint-Maurice to Doctor Knock, a skillful quack. Knock discovers that his newly acquired clientele is not worth having as far as making a living is concerned. But the idea of giving a free consultation to each of his clients gained for him a successful practice. Doctor Parpalaid, who comes back at the end of three months, desires to regain his former clientele, telling Dr. Knock that a man of his ability should practice in a larger community than Saint-Maurice. This desire was not satisfied, and Dr. Parpalaid realized too late a lost opportunity.

The cast of the production follows:

Doctor Knock----------Prof. Freeman
Doctor Parpalaid----Asst. Prof. Ranty
Madame Parpalaid--Asst. Prof Bideaud

The Fuller Brush Company has some summer sales positions for which they will consider applications from Middlebury students. The company is following a new policy this year with regard to remuneration of college men. The men will work on a commission basis as heretofore, but will be given a guarantee of $250 for nine weeks work. Any who are interested would do well to leave their names as soon as possible at Mr. Wiley's office.

"It won't be long now," said the editor as he picked up his shears.

CAGE AND X COUNTRY CAPTAINS, ASST. MGR. FOOTBALL ELECTED

Humeston, Dalton, McGraw Chosen for Seasons of 1929-30.

During the past week the elections were held for the captains of two of next year's teams. Richard Humeston of Dover Plains, N. Y. was chosen to captain Middlebury's 1929-1930 basketball team, and Robert Dalton of Hollis, N. Y. is to lead next year's cross country team. Announcement was also made o fthe election of Richard McGraw of Newark, N. J. as assistant manager of football.

The election of Humeston comes as the natural result of two years of consistent playing at the center position. During the past season he has been one of the main cogs in the chamiponship team, his defensive play has been that about which the rest of the defensive has been built while he has shown himself equally successful on the offensive, being second high scorer for the team. His spirit of putting all his efforts into every second of play and his levelheadedness makes him the natural leader for next year's team.

Mr. Humeston is also engaged in other campus activities, being president of the Junior Class, a member of Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity, of last year's baseball team, and of the student curriculum committee.

With the exception of Captain Butler, Robert M. Dalton '30 has been the outstanding man on this year's cross country team. He finished second in the St. Stephen's meet, and came in tied for first in the race against Vermont. With the past two years of varsity experience Dalton should prove a fine leader for the cross country team of next year. He is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity, and was on the track team last year.

Mr. McGraw '31 is a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity and was manager of freshman football last year.

The captain of hockey and the managers of the other sports have not as yet been elected, but Coach Beck expects that this will take place some time during this week.

HANDBALL PLAYERS PLAN TOURNAMENT

Each Fraternity May Enter Three Men in Contest.

Plans have been completed for the annual handball tournament which will start March 25. All entries must be in the athletic office mail box by Thursday noon, March 21, and the places of the contestants will be drawn charted and posted that afternoon.

The following rules have been drawn up to be observed by the players.

Each group shall enter three (3) contestants.

No substitutes shall be allowed.

Each contestant shall be rated as the No. 1, No. 2, or No. 3 man of his group.

In playing the drawn matches, no player shall play in any position other than the one designated in the entry blank.

In all rounds but the final, two out of three games wins each set, and two out of three sets wins each match. In the final, three out of five shall be required in each match.

Individuals shall arrange the time of play between themselves aiming to play off as soon as possible.

Referee, if necessary, shall be agreed upon by each contestant.

Enter results of each individual match on the chart posted on the gymnasium bulletin board.

The winner of the tournament will gain fifty points for his group in the interfraternity sports' cup competition, while the runner-up will obtain twenty-five points. Entry points numbering twenty-five will be given to each group entering their three men. Each man entered must compete until eliminated, as a forfeited match will lose the entry points for the whole team.

SENIORS AND FROSH WIN IN BASKETBALL

The Seniors defeated the Sophomores by a twenty-seven point margin and the Freshmen defeated the Juniors by fourteen points in the interclass competition in McCullough gymnasium Tuesday evening, March 12. The Senior-Sophomore game was not quite the walk-away the score indicates for the underclassmen put up stiff opposition and it was only the superior team work of the Seniors due to four years of playing together, that enabled them to hold the Sophomores and pile up such a score.

The Junior-Freshman game is excellent indication of the progress in teamwork made by the Freshmen players since the beginning of the season. At the end of the first quarter the score stood 18-8 in their favor, but by the end of the half they were in need of their ten point lead, for the Juniors had crept up until they were but one basket behind, 24-22. The latter part of the game was faster and closer than the first but the final score was 45-31 in favor of the Freshmen.

Harris '32 and Guest '30 were the high scorers for the evening, each with 25 points to her credit. Marchiano made the most points for the Seniors with a total of 16. Legate made 5 of the nine points for the Sophomores.

The line-up:

Sophomores		Seniors
Legate	RF	Marchiano
Bland, Eliot	LF	Tudhope
Gardner	CF	Comtois
Hagen	CG	Manty
Morrison	RG	Sibley

SENIORS AT YALE PREFER PHI BETE KEY TO MAJOR "Y"

Lindbergh and "My Father" Divide Honors as Most Admired.

Yale College Seniors, according to the list of preferences in the annual class vote announced Monday in the "Yale Daily News," prefer a Phi Beta Kappa key to a major "Y" earned in sports, incline towards Harvard as their favorite college next to Yale, and in answer to the question, "What man, now living, do you admire most?" cast a tie vote for Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and "my father." They believe English to be the most valuable subject, and psychology the least valuable.

Seniors of the Sheffield Scientific School, according to the same announce ment, voted to a tie in selecting President-elect Herbert Hoover and Col. Lindbergh as their favorite world figure, prefer a major "Y" to Sigma Xi, and hold Princeton as their favorite college next to Yale. Their list of favorites in various fields includes d'Artagnan in fiction; Napoleon in history; "The Three Musketeers" among novels; Dumas among prose authors; "If" among poems; and Tennyson among poets. The Class favors the Republican Party over the Democratic Party by a vote of 89 to 26.

FROSH TAKE SOPHS 25-20 IN THIRD OF INTERCLASS SERIES

One More Victory Removes Pea Greens Junior Week.

The Freshmen basketball five managed to defeat the Sophomore team 25-20 in a very closely contested game last Wednesday evening. The game was undecided from start to finish, with the Sophomores having the edge at the half 16-14. This makes the second successive Frosh victory out of the three contests between the two lower classes this year, the other being the hockey game in which the Sophomores were defeated 9-0. If they win the next contest tradition says, remove your "Pea Greens" Junior Week.

The first half was wavering first one way then the other with the edge a little in favor of Coach Beck's five. Both teams were fighting hard, however, and were very evenly matched, the period ending with the Sophomores in the lead 16-14.

At the beginning of the second half Coach Clogston's warriors started with renewed vigor and tossed in three baskets before the Sophomores realized what had happened. They soon recovered, however, and brought the game back to its original uncertainty. The Yearlings proved too much for them, with Ashdown flashing all over the court. The game ended 25-20 for the Freshmen.

Ashdown, right forward for the Frosh, was high scorer and star of the game; while Bullukian and Kelly by steady playing starred for the Sophs.

The lineups:

Freshmen		Sophomores
Belfanti, Embler	L.F.	Bullukian
Ashdown	R.F.	Williams
		Chappell
Thiele, Attick	C.	Paul
Nelson, Hess	L.G.	Hardy

COACH BECK ISSUES CALL TO TRACK MEN

Eleven Letter Men on Squad Now in Training.

The track team has begun spring training in response to Coach B. H. Beck's call for candidates. Eleven of last year's letter men led by Captain "Gil" Smith are out again and also two men who won their letters two years ago. Many freshmen signified their intention of becoming track stars and some good material is expected to be found among these men to replace those who were graduated from the college and track squad last year.

The letter men whom Coach Beck will have to replace are ex-Captain Charles C. Arnold '28, who ran the mile and half-mile, William Donald '28 who ran the same distances, and Milan H. Palmer '28 who performed the broad jump and also threw such things as the hammer, discus, shot and javelin. To replace Capt. Arnold and Donald, Coach Beck has Jerry Thayer '31 who won his letter last year and ought to round into pretty good shape this season. Witt '29 won his letter two years ago and ought to come in handy, and Haskins '30 is also a likely candidate. In throwing the hammer, discuss, javelin and shot Schmidt '29, and Guarnaccia '30, both of whom won their letter last year, are back again to try their luck in the same events. Guarnaccia is also a fairly good broad jumper.

In the 100 and 220 yard dashes Captain Smith should again lead the field as he consistently has in his three years of collegiate competition. Gruggel '29 has won his letter in these events and ought to round into pretty good shape despite some trouble with a "charley-horse" injury. Duffany '31 is also one of last year's sprint candidates.

Burrows '29 and Goltry '30 are the letter men competing in the 440 yard run who ought to continue their good performances of previous seasons, and two sophomores, Sanzo and Spencer, show plenty of promise. Goltry also attempts the half-mile and 220 yard dash occasionally but they are a little out of his style.

Dalton '30 is the only letter man in the two mile event. The two other candidates of last year's team are Butler '29 and Cox '31. Both should show up better this year.

The hurdles seem particularly weak. Sherman '31 won his letter in this event last year but he is out for baseball this spring. Others of last year's candidates who will again attempt the run are Stanley '30 and Newman '30. Maybe Sherman will change his mind regarding his baseball aspirations and come out for the running events before long.

Bagley '30 should continue to take care of the high jump as well as he has in previous years. Other candidates of last year's team for this event are Hoffnagle '30 and Affleck '31, the former having won his letter two years ago. Bagley also attempts the pole vault, but Williams '29 is the college star in this event. Other candidates for the pole vault are Tomlinson '29 and Paul '31.

In the weight throwing events Schmidt and Guarnaccia will probably carry the brunt of the work with Johnson '29, McLeod '30 and DuBois '30 right behind them.

Last year's team was particularly successful winning all of its meets, including the Green Mountain Conference Championship. St. Lawrence was defeated by a score of 87½-47½. R. P. I. was beaten 81-54. In the State Championship meet Middlebury finished first with 64 and one-sixth points, with the University of Vermont trailing second having scored 47½ points and Norwich last with 23 and one- third markers.

The schedule for this season is as follows:

May 4, R. P. I., at Troy.
May 10, St. Lawrence, at Middlebury.
May 18, Williams, at Williamstown.
May 25, Green Mountain Conference, at Burlington.

What's a Good Marriage?

Aren't we a bit too presumptuous in calling all those quiet commonplace domestic unions which we find about us "good marriages"? This unusual question is now being forced before the attention of the public by the new British novel "A Good Marriage" by Mary Brearley, which has just been published by Century.

The novel tells the story of a marriage that seemed in every way admirable and good—in the eyes of the outside world—a marriage between a steady-going young captain of industry and the very carefully brought up daughter of an exclusive English family. As the story opens, however, Faith Grandage looks back over her twenty-odd years of married life and finds them anything but admirable. She contemplates her girlish infatuation, the days which seemed so full but were really quite empty, her husband's stupid and shabby behavior, and her one love affair—glorious while it lasted. but long since dead. This complacent, ironic situation, Faith found, was what the smug, conventional world was pleased to call a "good marriage". The British critics say that Miss Brearley's presentation of the love life of Faith Grandage is one of the finest pieces of fiction writing of recent years.

DEBATERS LOSE TO NORWICH SPEAKERS

Judges Give 2 to 1 Decision in Favor of Negative on Jury Question.

The Middlebury College debating team, upholding the affirmative of the question, "Resolved, that the American jury system be abolished," was defeated by Norwich University in a debate held at Northfield Monday evening. The decision of the judges was 2 to 1 in favor of the negative. The speakers for Norwich were Richard F. Husband, G. Herbert Anker, Preston F. Gibson, and Glenn F. Lett, alternative. Middlebury was represented by Sam W. Pattee '29, Raymond J. Saulnier '29, and Reamer Kline '32.

Mr. Pattee in opening the affirmative for Middlebury, called attention to some of the social evils existing in the present jury system. He maintained that the personnel of the jury is incompetent to render justice, and that with the present system there are long delays which serve to lessen the deterrent effects of the penalty when finally administered.

Mr. Husband, the first Norwich speaker, pointed out that if we abolish the jury we are weakening the Constitution by introducing into it the first destructive amendment in its history. He also maintained that the social evils enumerated by the affirmative are not an integral part of the jury and are therefore easily remediable.

Mr. Saulnier, second speaker for the affirmative, showed that the jury system employs a relatively non-productive use of labor, and is, therefore, an economic waste. He maintained that if anywhere in society there is a man who can perform the work of administering justice more efficiently than can a jury, economic reasons alone would justify the abolition of the jury system. Mr. Anker, second speaker for the negative, pointed out that the jury system is provided for in several places in the constitution, and is therefore a fundamental part of our present governmental theory. He claimed that if we consider the judiciary set forth in the constitution inadequate, so also we must consider that the constitution's provision for the executive and legislative branches of our government are no longer adapted to our needs.

Mr. Kline in closing the constructive argument of the affirmative showed that a new system employing a bench of judges in the place of the present jury, would have none of the economic or social defects of the jury system and would render better justice.

Mr. Gibson, the final speaker for Norwich, devoted the major part of his speech to refutation of the arguments set forth by his opponent. He maintained that since the social and economic defects which the affirmative claimed exist in the jury system are easily remediable, the jury system should not be discarded for a new and untried method of justice administration.

The debate was closed with five minutes of rebuttal by the first speaker for the affirmative, Mr. Pattee. He maintained that to challenge the efficiency and integrity of a bench of elected judges would constitute an indictment of our whole democratic system of government which is founded upon the theory that the representatives of the people can be relied upon to work for the common good.

DR. HEWITT SPEAKS AT SUNDAY VESPERS

"Fear Not" Chosen as Text "There is Hope of Help" He Says.

Dr. Arthur W. Hewitt of Plainfield, Vt., spoke at Vespers Sunday, using as his text "Fear Not."

In opening his address Dr. Hewitt remarked upon the universality of fear. "Everybody, if they are perfectly honest with themselves, must admit a fear of something. Types change with civilization, as for example at the present time we so-called intellectuals are scared by modern big phrases. We do not recognize what we have always known in short words."

He cited examples from his own life experience in reference to the actual lack of time for fearing. "Fear does not come at the perilous moment but after it has passed. We do not know what or whom to fear. Why not stay with our heavenly Father and trust him? When we are afraid we cannot use our strength.

"Since fear is a primary instinct the difficulty of controlling an emotion must be recognized. A person who is warned not to get angry is very likely to become more highly incensed. This is where the hope of help from God and his comforting power enter in. We can help ourselves too, by overcoming each fear as it comes along. When a certain fear is conquered, it has left us forever and will never trouble us again." Another aid is this thought of Dr. Hewitt's "Love of God will cast out the fear, becoming only a dread that we should waver from the path. Faith and hope are just as native to the soul as fear."

The Letter of a Modern Father.

My Dear Son:

Your mother tells me you are thinking of dropping out of college and going abroad to work on your epic poem, "Futility." She says you feel more and more the necessity of getting away from the materialism of America so you can really think. I hasten to write you that I shall be glad to maintain you in Europe, Asia, or Africa for a number of years if the sojourn will make you think.

Just now I am a little concerned myself about the materialism of America. We had to close down Brickyard No. 7 because there wasn't enough materialism to keep it going. But it looks now as if materialism would be back strong so I shall pay your passage. I assume that is what you meant to suggest to me when you wrote your mother about your spiritual crisis and beating your wings against the iron bars of life.

Your Affectionate Father.
